

NEWS RELEASE

The Board of Directors of Infrastructure Management Group, Inc. Appoints a New President

Washington, DC, November 2, 2005 – The Board of Directors of Infrastructure Management Group (IMG) announced today that John E. Joyner, formerly head of the company's utilities and development practice, has been elevated to President. Mr. Joyner will oversee all aspects of the company as it continues its rapid growth in the transportation and utilities industries. The former President, Steve A. Steckler, IMG's founder and major shareholder, will remain as Chairman and will focus on the company's fast-growing technology business.

IMG Chairman, Steve Stecker said " John Joyner will have a huge impact on the company's future. John brings an aggressive management style and strong personal leadership to the top of the firm. Both strengths are needed to sustain our growth and prepare for future investments and acquisitions."

John Joyner has over 25 years of senior management experience in corporate management, city management, and infrastructure project development. He brings extensive experience in negotiating public-private partnerships, implementing utility performance programs, and developing water, power, and solid waste projects, including alternative infrastructure delivery methods such as Design-Build-Operate-Finance. He has a unique blend of hands-on experience ranging from a municipal official to a private utility service provider.

Prior to joining IMG, Mr. Joyner served as the chief marketing officer for United Water, one of the largest U.S. water companies, where he led the development efforts for groundbreaking public-private partnerships in the water industry. Mr. Joyner was also Vice President of project development for Ogden Energy, an independent power company active in the U.S. and Asia, and President of Consumat Systems, a NASDAQ listed solid waste company that designed, built, and operated municipal waste-to-energy facilities.

IMG President, John Joyner said, “ My mission is to execute IMG’s very exciting business plan guided by the board’s vision and driven by the energy and capability of our employees, all of whom are committed to the success of the company and its public and private partners.”

IMG is an international advisory firm advancing management, finance, technology, and development for public-use infrastructure. IMG identifies and implements pragmatic approaches and bold initiatives for superior service, delivery and management of aviation transportation, utilities, and other public-use facilities. IMG is a leading source of international experience and innovative methods for operations and cost performance, as well as infrastructure project financing with experience managing many of the largest transportation and utility public-private partnerships in North America. Our corporate motto, “bringing business to government”, is a testament to both the demands of our times and IMG’s commitment to our clients’ public service goals.

IMG is headquartered in Bethesda, Maryland, with additional offices and affiliates in other North American cities. For more information, visit www.imggroup.com.

###

Press Note: A publication-suitable electronic photo of the new IMG President John Joyner is available from Sharon Marsh at smarsh@imggroup.com or (301) 907-2900 ext. 3029.